

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

detailed discussion and the most bitter denunciation, but the oil trust, the sugar trust, various railway combinations, and the Chicago Board of Trade do not escape the author's condemnation.

Mr. Lloyd's treatment of these subjects is always denunciatory and brilliantly sarcastic. Many striking aphorisms and cutting phrases are scattered throughout these essays. The political economists of his day who sought to explain industrial life on the basis of free competition receive their due share of attention. Yet Mr. Lloyd was not a constructive philosopher. He furnishes no analysis of industry by which we are able to explain this movement toward consolidation and his sole remedy is summed up in the phrase, national ownership, and he would not have been too particular about compensation for the property seized.

M. B. HAMMOND.

Ohio State University.

NEW BOOKS

FLETCHER, W. M. Incorporation, organization and management of general business corporations in Illinois. (Chicago: Callaghan. 1910. $7.50.)

MEADE, E. Corporation finance. (New York: Appleton. 1910. Pp. xii, 468. $2.)

To be reviewed.

NOUEL, R. Les sociétés par actions, la réforme. (Paris: Alcan. 3.50 fr.)

PASSAMA, P. L'intégration du travail. (Paris: Larose et Tenin. 1910. Pp. xxiii, 342. 7.50 fr.)

Analyses the process of integration; an inductive study.

SULLIVAN, J. J. American corporations. (New York: Appleton. 1910. Pp. xiii, 455. $2.)

To be reviewed.

THALLER, E. Syndicats financiers d'émission, organisation, responsabilité. (Paris: Rousseau. 1910. Pp. 56. 2 fr.)

WARSCHAUER, O. Die monographische Darstellung der Aktiengesellschaften. (Berlin: Vahlen. 1910. Pp. 42. 1 m.)

Labor and Labor Organizations

A History of California Labor Legislation. By LUCILE EAVES. (Berkeley: The University Press: 1910. Pp. xv, 461. $4.)

Practically all investigators of labor conditions have confined their studies to eastern and middle western communities and have